WARDEN DEAL VILE FRAMEUP, JACKSON SAYS

FIRED PRISON HEAD SEEKS CHANCE TO BE EXONERATED

Lansing, March 8 (AP)—Governor Sigler said today he did not intend to reopen the case of Harry H. Jackson, dismissed warden of the Southern Michigan prison, unless there was "new evidence presented."

Sigler received from Jackson this morning a letter charging that his dismissal in 1945 was the result of a "vile frame up." Jackson asked either that he be exonerated or that criminal charges be brought which he could answer in court.

Sigler said he was turning the letter over to Joseph W. Sanford, the new state corrections commissioner, to "dig into it and see if there is anything to it."

Barred From New Job

"I assume Mr. Sanford will determine whether there is anything new in this matter," Sigler said. "If Jackson is complaining of the facts already passed on by competent jurisdictions, I am not going into that. If he has evidence of a conspiracy, that's different."

The governor said "if I start reopening all the hearings of past administrations I'd have my hands full. I've got plenty else to do."

Eigler declared, "I am interested in only one thing—cleaning up the prisons and putting them in positions so people will respect them I am not interested in personalities."

Questioned by reporters about Jackson's recent attempt to obtain a job as state parole officer by civil service examination, Sigler said, "I will not countenance the reappointment of anyone in the corrections department about whom there is suspicion or who is under a cloud."

One whom he attacked was Garrett Heyns, present director of prisons and prison industries and who was corrections commissioner in 1946. Jackson said Heyns instigated a plot for his removal.

Heyns, at his home in Grand Rapids, denied a "frameup" and further said he had "stood aside" in the course of the original investigation. It was conducted by John R. Dethmers, then attorney general and now a supreme court justice.

"Cupid Club" Cited

In his findings Dethmers accused prison officials on numerous counts, among them that they condoned a "Cupid Club for lovelorn

Boy Teased About His Wood Chopping Kills Aged Farmer

Monroe, La., March 8 (AP)—A grammar school boy told police he shot and then clubbed an aged farmer to death because the man teased him about his inability to chop wood.

Sheriff Milton Coverdale said the 16-year-old youth confessed orally yesterday to firing two shots at the farmer, B. F. Shepperd, 70, while strolling down the road target-shooting. No charges were filed immediately.

Shepperd's bloody body was found early Sunday, half submerged in a small creek.

Coverdale identified the farm boy as a seventh grade pupil at West Monroe Parish grammar school. Louisiana law prohibits publication of the name of a juvenile charged with a felony.

Conciliation Effort Pushed By America In Palestine Crisis

By MAX HARRELSON

New York, March 8 (AP) — The United States prepared to press for a new Palestine conciliation effort today as the big powers tackled the Holy Land crisis.

The exact nature of the U. S. plan was not disclosed. A member of the American delegation said, however, this country would insist that the consultations be confined to "peaceful measures" of settlement.

Representatives of the United States, Russia, France and China met at 11 a. m. (EST) in Russia's new Park Avenue offices.

Britain refused to take part in the consultations, which were ordered last Friday in a security council resolution. The big powers were asked to make recommendations by March 15 on what to do about carrying out the partition of Palestine.

As the delegates assembled for the opening talks, Chief U. S. Delegates Warren R. Austin was reported ready to urge one more effort toward conciliation of Jewish-Arab differences as the first step.

It appeared that he would have the backing of France and China, but it was doubtful whether Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko could be lined up in such a conciliation move. Gromyko objected to a U. S. proposal in the security council last week that the big powers consult with British, Arab and Jewish representatives.

France and China supported the U. S. move in the council, but it lost by one vote. A U. S. spokesman insisted the council's refusal to approve conciliation did not prohibit the big powers from going ahead anyway.

CREW STRANDED ON SINKING SHIP

Pounding Seas Handicap Coast Guard Rescuers Off North Carolina

Morehead City, N. C., March 8 (AP)—Twenty-one men were rescued today from the stricken motorship Norfolk.

While towering waves still pounded the grounded tanker, coast guardsmen used a breeches buoy to take the men to safety one by one. One crewman was rescued yesterday.

The 21 men, all reported in good condition, spent a dreary night aboard their battered, leaking vessel. The Norfolk, a 252-foot, 2,453-ton ship, piled into the treacherous sand reef off Beaufort inlet yesterday while in distress and trying to make harbor.

Planes roared over the area as the men transferred from the motorship to the Coast Guard vessels along the slender line.

The first 14 men were taken immediately to the Fort Macon Coast Guard station and the boats returned for the remaining seven. By mid-morning all were safely ashore.

Auto Worker Brags About Stepping Out, Shot Dead By Wife

Detroit, March 8 (AP) — John Fitzpatrick, 32-year-old auto plant foreman, died today of gunshot wounds which police said his wife inflicted in anger over his philandering.

The wife, Frances, 32, mother of four children, was taken into custody without charge after the shooting Saturday night.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick accused her husband of boasting about his conquests of other women and causing neighbors to "laugh at me," according to Detective Lt. John Cotter. The mother of four children admitted shooting her husband, Cotter said, during a bedroom quarrel.

Singapore Visited By U. S. Task Force

Singapore, March 8 (AP)—A 21-gun salute thundered from the aircraft carrier Valley Forge today as U. S. Task Force 38 arrived in Singapore on a courtesy visit.

Late in the day, the British Pacific fleet squadron also is scheduled to anchor here, making one of the largest concentrations of British-American seapower in southwest Asia since the war.

ALIMONY 50 CENTS

Pasadena, Calif., March 8 (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth F. Dwyer, 22, told superior court she wanted no alimony—just a divorce from Robert Dwyer, 22-year-old factory foreman she accused of blackening her eyes repeatedly during their three years of marriage.

Judge Paul Nourse awarded her alimony of 50 cents a month, however.

PLASTICS PLANT BLAST KILLS 4

Waltham, Mass. Factory Wrecked In Explosion Heard For 10 Miles

Waltham, Mass., March 8 (AP) — Police and fire officials searched the ruins of a plastics factory today for two men missing and believed killed in a Saturday night explosion that took two other lives and injured 29, five critically.

The bodies of two workmen—charred so badly they could not be identified immediately—were removed from the wreckage of the Interlake Chemical Corporation's two-story cement and stucco plant.

The explosion was heard for 10 miles and left the plant of the makers of "Makalot" plastic dishes and novelties a seared mass of girders and heavy machinery piled eight feet deep.

Fire Chief B. A. Neal said most of the survivors apparently were blown clear of the building and that some were shot 50 feet in the air and 75 to 100 feet away from the building.

Neal said that the blast occurred during a change in shifts at the suburban Boston factory. It was followed, the chief added, by a roaring fire which immediately enveloped the building.

Neal estimated damage at "about $150,000."

Paternity Charge Summons Served On Big Jim Folsom

Montgomery, Ala., March 8 (AP)—A summons was served on Gov. James E. Folsom today directing him to answer a paternity suit filed by a red-haired divorcee.

The suit was filed last Tuesday by Mrs. Christine Putman Johnson. Mrs. Johnson, 30-year-old divorcee of Hanceville, Ala., asked the Cullman (Ala.) circuit court to declare Folsom her legal husband and father of her 22-month-old son, James Douglas.

She charged that she and Folsom lived together as man and wife. The governor has said politics was behind the suit and has declined further comment.

The governor has 30 days to answer the suit.

Loan of 500 Million For Latin American Countries Proposed

Washington, March 8 (AP)—The State Department announced today it will ask Congress soon to let the export-import bank lend $500,000,000 to Latin American countries.

The announcement was in a statement sent to the House Foreign Affairs committee.

It said the department also plans to request $20 000,000 "to prevent disease and unrest" in the Americana-British zone in Trieste during the 15-month period between April 1, 1948 and June 30, 1949.

The committee had asked what foreign aid programs were intended other than the European aid and China aid plans already proposed.

CIVIL RIGHTS FIGHT SHIFTS TO CONGRESS

REPUBLICANS RISK BREAK TO BOOST DIXIE REVOLT

BY WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, March 8 (AP)—The civil rights fight moved to the House floor today with the GOP leadership apparently ready to side with rebelling Dixie Democrats.

An odd set of political circumstances finds the Republicans risking a minor break in their own lines in an obvious effort to keep the fires of revolt ablaze in President Truman's party.

The showdown test shaped up over an anti-discrimination rider to the $1,017,851,000 (B) Labor Department-Federal Security Appropriation bill up for debate today and a vote probably late tomorrow.

The issue is: Shall states that do not give equal educational and job opportunities to citizens of all races, when those opportunities are financed with federal funds, continue to receive the money?

Rider Knocked Out

An appropriations subcommittee which wrote the bill said they should not and tacked on the rider, or amendment, to that effect.

But the full committee overrode the subgroup and by a 25 to 6 vote knocked the proviso from the bill.

Rep. Keefe (R-Wis.), chairman of the subcommittee and sponsor of the anti-distrimination proposal, told reporters he would offer it on the floor to give the entire house a chance to vote.

A number of other Republicans and most northern Democrats said they are ready to approve it. But the GOP house leadership is cool to the proposal and, unless it changes its mind, will help southern Democrats kill it.

The announced stand of the GOP high command is that the proviso has no place in an appropriations bill and should be considered as a separate bill.

But behind the scenes, Republicans admit privately that it would not be good political strategy for them to incur the wrath of Dixie Democrats fighting the president's own program to wipe out racial discrimination.

PRIZE-WINNING NOVELIST DEAD

'Raintree County' Author Takes Monoxide Gas In His Garage

Bloomington, Ind., March 8. (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for Ross Lockridge jr., 33, author of the prize-winning novel "Raintree County," who died Saturday night of carbon monoxide poisoning in the garage at his home here.

Dr. Robert E. Lyon jr., Monroe county coroner, reported in his finding that Lockridge committed suicide.

The young author left no explanation of his action, which came as he was on the crest of success. Raintree County," his first novel, was a Book-of-the-Month club selection. It has been high on best-seller lists since publication. It won Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's $125,000,000 novel award and is to be made into a motion picture.

Lockridge's father, Ross Lockridge sr., said his son's seven years of work on the novel had resulted in a "complete breakdown."

"He put his whole heart into his book," the elder Lockridge said. "He was utterly exhausted."

Lockridge's body was found in his automobile in the lighted garage by his widow, Vernice. The coroner said Mrs. Lockridge told him her husband had left the house earlier in the evening, saying he was going to "mail some letters but would return to listen to a broadcast of a basketball game."

Butter-Oleo Battle Threatens To Bring Cow Into Congress

Washington, March 8 (AP) — Dairy state Congressmen threatened today to move a cow, her calf, and a farmer's daughter into the House office building.

These law-makers from the cow country hit the roof when an exhibit proclaiming the virtues of oleomargarine was installed in the building on Capitol Hill. Rep. Andresen (R-Minn.), who threatened the counter exhibit, called the oleo show "lobbying of the most supreme corder."

It was all preliminary to today's opening of public hearings on 18 bills proposing that the special federal taxes on oleo be repealed. The exhibit was arranged by members of the House favoring repeal.

Uncle Sam's treasury was caught in the crossfire between butter and oleo.

It's a touchy political question. The tax first was imposed in 1889. It now provides:

A 10 cent a pound tax on each retail sale of colored oleo; ¼ cent a pound on the uncolored product.

A $600 a year levy on each manufacturer of oleomargarine; $480 on each wholesaler of colored oleo; $200 for each wholesaler of the uncolored product; $48 on each retailer of colored oleo; $6 on each retailer of the uncolored product.

Several states also have special taxes on oleo.

SHOOTING FATAL AT RIVER ROUGE

Young Mother Slain By Man While Watching Night Club Show

Detroit, March 8 (AP)—A dozen suburban River Rouge policemen arrested Homer Caldwell today after his 26-year-old wife was shot to death in a crowded nightclub.

The victim, red-haired Mrs. Lula Caldwell, until recently a resident of Dorton, Ky., died in a hospital Sunday night shortly after an assailant calmly fired three shots into her heart as she watched a floor show.

Her estranged husband, a 27-year-old steel worker, was arrested as he entered his rooming house this morning. He was held for questioning with no charge placed against him.

Three comedians were performing in dimly-lighted Coolidge Inn for a crowd of about 100 patrons, witnesses said, when a short, unshaven man entered the establishment.

His hat was pulled over his eyes and his coat collar turned up.

Pausing a moment at the door, he then deliberately walked over to Mrs. Caldwell's table, pulled a revolver, and began firing.

Mrs. Caldwell was shot in the chest. Claude Carbeille, 22, who was nearby, was wounded in the arm and leg.

Lt. Stephen Kopsei said witnesses quoted the killer as saying before he fled:

"She's my wife and they got what was coming to them."

Couple Over Church Overcome By Gas; Congregation Prays

New York, March 8 (AP)—William Curl, 62, and his wife, Hattie, 61, were found overcome by gas in their apartment above the Wesleyan Methodist church in Brooklyn yesterday shortly before the morning services.

While emergency crews worked over the unconscious couple, the congregation of 30 prayed steadily for an hour and a half that they might survive.

Curl never revived, but his wife responded to treatment. She was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

Again last night, the congregation met to pray for her recovery.

The couple had lived above the church for three years and had attended services regularly.

Police said a pan of soup had boiled over in their apartment, putting out a gas flame and allowing the fumes to escape as they dressed for the morning service.

NINETEEN BREAK JAIL IN GEORGIA

Bloodhounds Guide Hunt For Felons In Brush North Of Decatur

Decatur, Ga., March 8 (AP) — Bloodhounds guided police through the brush country north of here early today in hot pursuit of ten escaped prisoners—those still at large following a mags jailbreak.

Nineteen prisoners, serving time for crimes ranging from misdemeanors to murder, hacked their way through the bars of a Dekalb county prison kitchen window yesterday but nine were recaptured in short order.

The nine were sent to solitary confinement and many other prisoners not involved in the break hooted and jeered as they were marched into the prison.

After the break the chase centered in the vicinity of Historic Stone Mountain and over the surrounding rocky, scrubby terrain. Road blocks were mounted on many highways, motorists were warned to be on the lookout and all suburban Atlanta trolly line stops were patroled for the grey-uniformed escapees.

Chicago Widow Who Picked Benny Has Exciting Week End

Chicago, March 8, (AP)—The 68-year-old widow who won the rich "Walking Man" radio contest Saturday night described her exciting weekend simply today as "such fun."

"I think the best part of it has been hearing from a number of friends I haven't seen in 15 years," she said. "They called up to congratulate me."

By identifying Jack Benny, radio comedian, as the mysterious "Walking Man," Mrs. Florence Hubbard, lingerie saleswoman in a loop department store, showered herself with prizes valued at $22,500.

She said she has not decided what to do with all the prizes. "There's much too much for my three-room apartment," she said. Besides household appliances, the prizes include a Cadillac automobile, airplane, trailer, and two week vacation at Sun Valley, Idaho.

The contest was sponsored by Ralph Edwards of the "Truth or Consequences" program. Rules required a statement of why "we should all support the American Heart Association," along with a contribution to the organization.

Mrs. Hubbard said she submitted 30 entries during the 10 weeks of the contest because she was "very much interested in the American Heart Association. Her husband, a physician, died of a heart ailment 10 years ago.

Edwards said contributions to the Association totaled approximately $1,500,000.

PARENTS SLAIN; GIRL, 17, JAILED

Ozark Country Made Her Life Unhappy, Young Brunette Says

Eminence, Mo., March 8 (AP)—A 17-year-old brunette was held today on a charge of murder in the fatal shootings of her mother and father.

Betty Jane Kroeger signed a statement yesterday saying she shot her mother dead in their home Tuesday and killed her father in his store the following day, Highway Patrol Captain J. A. Tandy reported.

The bodies of Fred Kroeger, 50, and his wife, Minnie, 48, were found last night.

The slender, dark-eyed brunette said her outlook on life changed when she left East St. Louis, where the family lived until 1944, and moved to the Ozarks. She said the change from gay city life to Ozark country life made her unhappy.

The girl told a newspaper reporter who interviewed her in jail that she shot her mother accidentally following an argument over the ironing of a dress.

Tandy quoted her as saying she then killed her father because she knew he would find out about the first slaying. She said she shot her father while he was asleep in his store, Tandy reported.

Bulgarian Minister In London Quits To Work For Freedom

London, March 8 (AP)—Bulgaria's minister to Britain has quit his job, in order, he says, "to work for the restoration of liberty and democracy in my country."

The minister, Nikola Dolapchiet, thus joined Vassil Youroukoff, Bulgarian minister to Belgium, who announced last Friday that he had resigned. The Bulgarian government said the next day Youroukoff had been dismissed.

Dolapchiet said in announicing his resignation last night:

"The liquidation of all independent political activities and the actual establishment of a one-party system of government (in Bulgaria) will lead inevitably to the suppression of all liberties."

RUSSIA PUTS ON PRESSURE FOR HELSINKI

MUTUAL AID PACT TALKS TO START IN MOSCOW

Helsinki, March 8. (AP)—Finland's cabinet decided today to begin negotiations with Soviet Russia, a member of the government reported.

Finland is suggesting that the talks be held in Moscow. No decision was announced on the make-up of the delegation that will go to the Russian capital to carry on negotiations for the treaty of cooperation sought by Prime Minister Stalin.

The cabinet member who made available this information said he could not disclose whether Finland is advising Stalin she is ready to negotiate toward a military pact as well as a friendship agreement.

Military Hookup Opposed

In approving the negotiations, the cabinet and president followed the guidance of Finland's six parliamentary groups. The majority of these favored conferring with the Russians.

One reason was that the proposal originated with Prime Minister Stalin and had become a matter of prestige. Another was that the Finns felt it is necessary at least to meet the Russians to get a more detailed idea of what they have in mind.

An official statement was expected later in the day.

When Prime Minister Stalin suggested the talks in a letter to Paasikivi dated Feb. 22 and delivered just 14 days ago, he said Russia would agree to meet either in Helsinki or Moscow. Most Finns seem to want to hold the meetings here, but others prefer Moscow.

Stalin's proposal for a mutual assistance past like those Russia now has with Hungary and Romania has caused much concern. Most Finns oppose any far-reaching military alliance with the U. S. S. R.

The president alone must make the final decision on the question of beginning the talks. He asked the various parliamentary groups, however, for their opinion.

Protest Meeting Dispersed

The Popular Front, including Communists and radical Socialists, was the only bloc to support a full military alignment with the Soviet Union. They have 51 of the 200 parliamentary seats.

Opposed to any kind of military alliance are the Social Democrats, 48 seats; Agragians, 48 seats; Conservatives, 29 seats; Liberals, nine seats, and the Swedish People's Party, 15 seats.

Any treaty that is concluded must be ratified by parliament.

Yesterday, strong - arm men broke up a mass meeting protesting the proposed treaty.

Four or five men, described as Communists, suddenly appeared and pushed the speaker aside. They grabbed the microphone and announced that the meeting was organized by Fascists.

Russians were observed snapping pictures of the incident from the windows of the Hotel Karelia, which the Russians have taken over.

The meeting was called by Ernesti Hentunen, attorney, who leads an independent party which carries little weight in Finnish politics.

STRESS QUALITY MILK PROGRAM

Meetings Scheduled In County On Thursday And Friday

Meetings designed to gain the cooperation of dairy farmers and processing plant operators in a program to improve the quality of Michigan milk will be held in Delta county Thursday and Friday this week, it was announced today by Joseph L. Heirman, county agricultural agent.

One of the factors in improving milk quality is the rapid and efficient cooling of the milk on the farm, and maintaining that lowered temperature until it reaches the creamery or cheese plant. This is a problem for some farmers who lack cooling facilities.

A recent Michigan law requires that after April 1, 1948, all milk coming to processing plants must be cooled to 60 degrees or lower. The Michigan department of agriculture has advised its inspectors to reject milk that does not conform.

Dairy farmers and plant operators will discuss the cooling problem and other steps to improve milk quality, at five meetings to be held in the county. William Lutz, dairy specialist and perhaps a state dairy inspector, will accompany Heirman to the meetings. A moving picture, "Production of Quality Milk," will be shown.

The schedule of meetings is as follows:

Thursday, March 11—1:45 p. m. Garden community building; 8 p. m., Rapid River high school.

Friday, March 12—9:45 a. m., Rock high school; 2 p. m., Bark River community building; 8 p. m., Cornell hall.

Twentynine Palms Elects New Mayor, Esther Williams

Twentynine Palms, Calif., March 8 (AP)—This desert resort community of 3,500 persons has a new mayor today, Esther Williams.

When she took office yesterday the full-throated yells from 7,000 lusty lungs almost shook down the platform from which she ran for office.

The platform seemed to be one emphasizing pulchritude. The golden-haired movie actress had no sooner been inducted into the honorary job than the whole town, and several thousand visitors from as far away as Hollywood, adjourned to the Twentynine Palms airport's swimming pool where a fashion show was conducted.

Among the first to congratulate Miss Williams was Phil Sullivan, a full-bearded old prospector of 84, who came here in 1898 a few years after gold was discovered. She handed him a full-blown kiss right in the midst of his whiskered countenance and the old gentleman left hastily, presumably to dig for more gold.

James Pavlot, Stephenson, reported to Escanaba police Saturday night that four white ornamental sidewalls were stolen from the tires of his automobile, parked near the junior high school during the basketball tournament Saturday night. The radio aerial of the car and a radiator ornament were also damaged.

THE WAY OF DEMOCRACY

Man's Ingenuity Has Conceived Nothing Better

Throughout their history, the American people have met social challenges by voluntary group action which they themselves initiated and controlled. They have rarely sought aid other than that which their own free enterprise has provided.

Today a challenge of great importance to Americans—a challenge disturbing to most, ruinous to many—

is being solved here in Michigan in a typically democratic way.

BLUE CROSS—A NON-PROFIT PUBLIC SERVICE

Blue Cross offers a voluntary method of pre-paying hospital and surgical care without hardship. It is a non-profit arrangement developed in the public interest by Michigan hospitals and by Michigan's medical profession. It provides a method of cooperation between hospitals, doctors of medicine, and the public—to make good hospital and medical-surgical care available to everyone without financial strain on anyone.

By making a small monthly payment to Blue Cross, members of this plan and their families are entitled to hospital care and doctors' services when they need it without worry about expense. Over 1,200,000 Michigan people have solved this difficult and perplexing problem by adopting Blue Cross. Blue Cross adheres strictly to American principles and practice and to the fundamentals of non-profit operation.

Electrical Improvements

THE CITY OF ESCANABA has authorized the expenditure of approximately $40,000 for capital improvements of the municipal electric plant to be paid from the 1948-49 budget. The major project, installation of a master unit substation in the southwest portion of the city, will cost about $34,000 and an additional $6,000 will be spent to provide peak load control equipment.

The substation in the southwest area will materially improve distribution facilities in a section of the city that is developing rapidly. The ultimate cost to the city will be less than if the substation were not installed because it will reduce the cost of additional lines to serve residents of that area.

Without the substation it would be necessary to run heavier lines to that area because of the distance from the main station downtown. High voltage lines will be run to the substation, where the voltage will be reduced and the electricity distributed from that point to the area being served.

The peak load control equipment will likewise be a valuable addition to the city's electric system. In fact, it is estimated that this equipment will pay for itself within two years. Primarily it will control in a central office the operation of all electric water heaters in the city so that these appliances can be shut off when electric demand is at peak. Since the city pays for its electricity on the basis of the maximum demand load for any 15 minute period within a month, the peak load control is particularly important.

Peak load control of water heaters is effected now by time clocks installed in each home where the electric heaters are in operation. With this arrangement, however, it is necessary to estimate the periods of maximum demand. When those periods change as they frequently do in various seasons, it is necessary to make the rounds of all homes with electric water heaters and to reset the time clocks.

Although the peak load control device will be paid from funds earmarked from the 1948-49 fiscal year budget, delivery of this equipment is not guaranteed before 20 months. The installation is expected to be in operation by the Christmas season of 1949.

Shunting Responsibility

THE UNITED NATIONS security council deliberately shunted an obligation handed to it by the UN general assembly when the council refused to accept a resolution to take part in the partition of Palestine. Ironically enough the resolution was defeated even though not a single vote was cast against it.

Five nations—United States, Russia, Soviet Ukraine, Gelgium and France—voted for the resolution. Seven were needed for passage but there were six abstentions.

The resolution, previously approved by the United Nations assembly, was brought before the security council by the United States delegation. Its defeat certainly is a serious blow to the partition project and an equally serious blow to the effectiveness of the United Nations itself.

The Palestine partition problem is now dumped flatly into the laps of the big powers without assurance of support from the rank and file of the UN members. United Nations solidarity is an important aspect to the partition project but that has been rejected by the spineless attitude of the nations on the council that refused to vote on this problem.

The council apparently is hoping against hope that the Arabs and Jews will conciliate their differences and save the United Nations from a nasty job. This is strictly an "ostrich in the sand" attitude and holds no basis at all in reality.

The United Nations assembly has pledged a separate Jewish state in Palestine and the responsibility of the security council to carry out that mandate unequivocally is readily apparent. You can hardly blame the Jews for being apprehensive that the UN may renege on its pledge.

The Case Of Czechoslovakia

IT HAS BEEN SAID, frequently and truly, that communism thrives on discontent and misery. History of the past 30 years shows that the Reds make little progress in a free and prosperous nation and that it usually takes poverty and exploitation to make people reach for Dr. Marx's strong medicine.

But the case of Czechoslovakia is different. The Czechs are well off, by present European standards. Their land was fought over during the war, but their cities are not pounded to rubble. The people enjoyed civil liberties and property rights under a representative government.

By all the accepted rules communism should have had a poor time of it in Czechoslovakia. Yet, before the seizure of power, the Communists were the country's biggest party. And when they set out to take over completely, the opposition folded up almost over night.

This sad affair leaves two questions about past events and one for the future. Why were the Communists so strong? Why was the opposition so weak. And how are the Communists going to run Czechoslovakia?

The answer to question one seems to be that communism got its strength partly from gratitude and partly from "realism," or fear. The Red Army liberated Czechoslovakia. After the German surrender Moscow got its troops out before they could build up the resentment among the natives that Soviet occupation forces are reported to have created in other countries.

Then there is the fact that Czechoslovakia was Russia's neighbor. It might be that many Czechs took note of what had happened to most of the other neighbors, decided that their day of reckoning was not far off, and determined to get in on the winning side. Stories of a big rush to join the Communist Party since the coup tend to support this theory.

The same sort of thinking may account for the non-Communists' quick collapse. President Eduard Benes and his followers probably saw that, with the police under Communist control and an ardently pro-Soviet general leading the army, resistance would only mean useless bloodshed and inevitable defeat.

As for the third question, the Communists have at last secured a going concern. Some Russian Communists have admitted that it isn't really "communism" that is practiced in their country, and that they would have to get control of a country like the U. S. before the world could see how their theories really are supposed to work.

Well, the Marxists have a fine opportunity in Czechoslovakia. Here is the ideal laboratory for the Kremlin and its stooges to create the workers' paradise they are always talking about. This can be their show place. They can banish purges and secret police, for the Czechs accepted the new order without a struggle. They can stop such foolishness as ordering composers and writers to turn out a certain type of music and books. The new leaders can ring up the iron curtain and fearlessly let their system stand comparison with decadent capitalism. The Czechs, literate, socialist-minded people, won't need intellectual spoon-feeding.

All this and more the Communists might do in Czechoslovakia, their new, modern, well-equipped experimental laboratory. What do you bet that they will?

Good Morning

BECAUSE HE DEPLORED the general lack of human kindness, a New York man started on a recent morning to spread sweetness and light in his daily contacts. His first effort was in a department store. "Good morning," he said to the woman who came to wait on him. "And how are you this fine morning?" Instead of the pleasant smile he expected to receive in return, she said: "A hell of a lot of difference it makes to you how I am."

This may have been an unusual instance, but it illustrates the attitude of the American people toward each other. There still are signs of friendliness, but more often they are resented than welcomed. The person who makes a display of it is usually suspected of being drunk or a bit balmy.

The modern attitude is one of minding one's own business. Except in rare instances, he who deviates from it is rebuffed for his pains.

A new baby makes the days brighter, says a doctor. And during the teething period it brightens up the home by night, too.

When folks get full credit for what they do they usually don't need credit for what they buy.

Take My Word For It . . Frank Colby

WORDS TO WATCH

One of the queerest mispronunciations I have ever heard occurred recently on a Town Meeting broadcast. The error was made by the noted writer, Henry Hazlitt, who said, not once but several times, "dy-OG-nuh-siss" for the word diagnosis. This error is noteworthy for two reasons: (1) Mr. Hazlitt is an unusually well-educated man; (2) diagnosis is a word that is in the vocabulary of every literate person, and the correct pronunciation has always been: DY-ag-NO'siss. How is it possible that such a man has lived 54 years, the greater part of which has been devoted to using words professionally, without knowing that "dy-OG-nuh-siss" simply doesn't exist in the English language?

It all goes to emphasize what I have said more than once: Most of us have in our vocabularies a few words that we not only mispronounce but which we often misuse and misspell as well.

If this article happens to come to Mr. Hazlitt's attention, I hope he will not feel bad about "dy-OG-nuh-siss," for he has much illustrious company in the mispronunciation of familiar words.

For example:

Leon Henderson, "SLO-gum" for slogan. The late F. D. R., "uh-PLIK-able" for applicable. General Douglas MacArthur, "uh-MOG-uh-DON" for Armageddon (correct: ahr-muh-GED-un). H. V. Kaltenborn, "RUSH-ee-uh" for Russia. Herbert Hoover, "kote" for quote, and "ko-TAY-shun" for quotation. Adm. William F. Halsey, "AG-run-DIZE-ment" for aggrandizement (correct: uh-GRAN-dizz-m'nt).

There are many more, of course; but this space is limited and the examples given are sufficient to ilustrate my point.

Let me editorialize a little by observing that all of us should strive for good speech and accurate pronunciations. The ability to speak well is an asset of inestimable value in almost every human endeavor.

Of course, there is no law that compels us to speak correctly; and many a person has risen to great success in spite of poor speech. Nevetheless, good speech has never yet marred the fortunes of any man.

As to broadcasters, allow me to repeat what I have said before: The way you speak is your own business. But when you speak on the radio, it's everybody's business.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—It was Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, former chief of naval operations, who said concerning push-button warfare that all we had up to date was the button. In that remark is a stern realism that contrasts with the great delusion of today—the delusion of lightning war conducted by scientists who send guided missiles hurtling across thousands of miles, carrying atomic explosives to targets with pinpoint accuracy. This Buck Rogers fantasy has flowered in a thousand different ways in the past few years.

Childs

IT'S ONLY FANTASY

Unfortunately, millions of Americans have accepted the fantasy for reality. The atomic bomb is the Maginot Line of this country today. Just as that wall of steel and concrete lulled the French into a false sense of security in 1939, so in 1948 the bomb and all the hush-hush over its "secrecy" have produced an illusion of safety in this country.

One service performed by the congressional aviation policy board in its recent report was to point to the danger in the Buck Rogers publicity that comes out of the Army Air Forces. The report was referring to the kind of trumpeting which heralds the achievements of a plane still in the trial-and-error stage and years short of availability for actual combat. The report went so far as to say something that had hitherto been considered a security secret:

"As a matter of fact, the effective radius of action of the longest-range bomber now in use is less than 2,000 miles, and the famous B-29 has an effective radius of 1,600 miles."

While the report does not say it, the same thing goes for guided missiles. A missile that can be directed several hundred miles to a target, with a fair degree of accuracy, is years away. Whether it is ten or fifteen or twenty years away is a matter for argument among the scientists.

What most of us overlook is the word potential. These things are potentially possible. But from there to the actuality is a long jump, with a lot of difficult steps on the way.

There is a terrible danger in the current delusion because of the growing conflict with Russia. To think that Russia can be brought down, when the United States chooses to go to war, with pilotless planes and guided missiles to demolish the Russian cities, is to dream a false dream.

The contrast with what is and what is likely to be could hardly be more grim. As Russia pushes the boundary of her effective domination farther to the west—and Czechoslovakia was a powerful gain—so does she develop more fully what is still the supreme geography. With her strategic centers in the middle of the great Eurasian land mass, flanked by Europe and Asia, Russia will occupy a position inconceivably strong.

KREMLIN HAS TIMETABLE

There is undoubtedly a Kremlin timetable for the domination of Europe by political conquest short of war. When conquest is completed, if it is completed, the United States will be on the outside looking in. And one of the few realities of push-button warfare comes in here. As was demonstrated in World War II, bombs of the V-1 and V-2 type can be hurled a short distance—across the English Channel—to blanket a massive target such as London.

The moral—the desperately urgent moral—is that the political conquest of Europe must be prevented. To dislodge the Soviet glacier once it had slid into place would cost an infinity of lives and treasure. Such an effort would take far longer than four years, and the cost of World War II would be small in comparison.

The realities of power, including air power, are essential to halt the march of Communism. Military power is one essential. But there is a lot of difference between reports outlining what should be done and getting down to doing it. The congressional study is the second report in recent weeks on air power, the first one being the Finletter report. The net effect of these reports sometimes sems to be a kind of Buck Rogers arithmetic sprayed into the headlines. The congressional aviation policy board proposed ultimately spending $10,000,000,000 a year on aviation to build up a force of 35,000 planes.

Sen. Robert A. Taft's prompt response was to say that he was for, maybe, an extra billion for the Air Forces. But it would have to come out of the money allocated to universal military training and other military purposes. This at a moment when our military manpower is 100,000 under minimum needs.

We can be sure of one thing—the fantasy of push-button warfare may deceive us but it does not fool the ruthless men who guide world communism.

"What a Clumsy Operator You Were!"

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

ONE WAS KILLED—This, the second and concluding column on the subject of the wolverine in Michigan, will continue with the open letter received from Cheever Buckbee, 512 Lake Shore Drive, Escanaba. Supported by the late Ernest Thompson Seton and Wm. H. Burt, Buckbee contends that wolverines did live in Michigan. He goes farther and says: "They did and I think still do," live in the Upper Peninsula. This is contrary to assertions by officials of the game division of the conservation department, who state that they doubt Michigan ever was the wolverine's habitat. Mr. Buckbee's letter continues:

Dunathan

"Some 35 odd years ago, Fred Leighton of 505 South Sixth street, Escanaba, killed a wolverine the first part of deer season. He was hunting from Camp Cotterill in T 43, R 26, Marquette county. Alex Peterson, the cruiser, skinned it out, and the pelt was given to Mr. S. W. Cotterill, who was a member of the hunting party. By the way, if you will look at an old E. & L. S. railroad map you will find there was a spur or switch a few miles north of Gleason and it was named 'Wolverine'.

STILL LIVE HERE—"During the last two years I have had reports from two very reliable woodsmen who said they saw animals they could not absolutely identify but thought were wolverines. Yes, I think we still have wolverines in the Upper Peninsula. But in my opinion they are the smartest northern animal—even wiser than an old timber wolf. And how many, out of the thousands of deer hunters who crowd our woods, ever saw a timber wolf?

NO 'NATURE FAKING'—"No man should set himself up as an authority on wildlife and proclaim or teach 'Wolverines never lived in Michigan' until he has made an extensive investigation. And that is becoming increasingly difficult as most of the oldtime trappers and cruisers who best knew and loved our north country are now enjoying 'the happy hunting grounds.'

"Gosh, Clint, if the wolverine stories are 'nature faking', what about the old stories of panther, elk, moose, the Tahquamenon alligator, opossum, white eagles, sand hill crane, trumpeter swan, etc., etc.?

Cheever Buckbee
512 Lake Shore Drive
Escanaba, Michigan.

"P. S. —I will appreciate hearing from anyone who has any wolverine experiences or stories. I have been told of an Indian of Mackinac county who killed a wolverine, but I know neither his name nor address. C. B."

BELIEVES THEY WERE—William H. Burt in his "The Mammals of Michigan", published by University of Michigan Press, 1946, writes of the wolverine as follows:

"Distribution —Probably present in most of the state, but now extinct. There is no Michigan specimen in any museum. The only hope of establishing an actual record for the state is to find a skull of the wolverine. There are a number of trapper's reports and recently Schorger (1939) found an old newspaper clipping in the Milwaukee Daily Wisconsin, dated March 20, 1860, which read as follows:

"Strange Animal— The Green Bay Advocate has an account of a strange animal caught in a trap on the 15th of February, by a German living at Marquette, Lake Superior. It was about three and a half or four feet long, with black legs and head, with rather coarse hair, resembling that of a bear; reddish color on the sides, and dark brown on the belly, with whitish spots on the head; head small, something like an anteater's, nose pointed, tail short and bushy, legs short but very large with claws like a bear. Nobody seems to know anything about it, but Mr. C. Henry; and he speaks of seeing the same description of animal on the coast of Laborador, and that there the French called it 'carcajou.' He also describes them as possessing great strength, and as being for their cunning much dreaded by trappers."

BUT EARLY—Commenting on the old newspaper account, Burt says: "The account, although not so good as it might have been, describes the wolverine better than it does any other mammal that lived in the region.

"In the margin of a map in state of Michigan, published by Ensign, Bridgman, and Fanning in New York, and entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1855, is a list of animals occurring in the state, which includes the wolverine. I do not know who prepared the statement, but the other animals mentioned, 23 in all, are either here at the present time, or were authentically recorded previously.

"These two citations are the best bits of written evidence indicating that the wolverine once inhabited Michigan, Supplemented by trappers' reports, they suffice to place the wolverine in the early fauna of Michigan."

Burt's book has an accompanying map of Michigan showing former distribution of the wolverine, based on records. In the Upper Peninsula the wolverine was reported in Chippewa, Schoolcraft, Marquette, Gogebic and Ontonagon counties. Burt lists the reports as "authenticity questionable."

New York, (AP)—Some leading comrades in Soviet Russia, which wants to make the world safe for Communism steppe by steppe, appear to be getting out of step themselves with Karl Marx, their Apostle.

And capitalistic flyspecks keep showing up in the Rad paradise of promised plenty.

Here are a few signs of the collisions between human nature and dialectical materialism which recently have annoyed the toiling proletarians of the Kremlin:

(1) Moscow's Bolshoi Opera Ballet theater went over its budget by 150,000 rubles.

(2) One motion picture studio gave Hollywood an example in efficiency by spending three years making a film that is still unfinished.

(3) Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev complained some Soviet ministries were doing a lousy job of building new factories, were lying about their accomplishments and also hoarding materials.

(4) The Minister of Trade, A. V. Lyubimov, has been bounced from his job for falling down on it.

(4) The Education Ministery bawled out Soviet scientists for studying the birth rate of spiders instead of vital agricultural problems. They also were told to quit looking in their test tubes for extraneous facts and spend more time proving Karl Marx's theories of the class struggle.

(6) The American military government in Berlin charged that while Soviet bigwigs were sneering at "Dollar Diplomacy" they were active in the German black market trying to cadge all the dollars they could in order to buy more needed goods from other countries.

(7) The Soviet Youth newspaper sadly asserted that Russian young people are now dancing the Khazachek in a "decent manner."

(8) Critics lambasted leading Soviet composers for sticking to a classical style and renewed their campaign to make American jazz music less popular with the Russian masses.

(9) The Soviet Army newspaper griped that too many of its marching songs were "lyrically peaceful, passive and sometimes vulgarly philistine." It suggested that the composers get out and spend some time with the troops.

(10) Eugene Varga, top-ranking Soviet economist, was tossed out of his post for daring to express the non-Marxian belief that the capitalistic countries weren't collapsing.

(11) In Soviet Estonia the Rahva Haal newspaper regretfully noted that "many pupils go to church." It blamed this on teachers who failed in the Marxist-Leninist spirit.

Perhaps the Kremlin ought to buy ouija boards and get Karl Marx's ghost to explain his theories all over again. Some of the faithful are certainly mixed up now.

The Soviet Union is subsidizing poverty in Europe and maintaining armed forces at approximately 30 per cent of her wartime peak. —Frederick Osborn, U. S. delegate to UN Atomic Energy Commission.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—One of the most significant conversations to leak out was between Chester Bowles, then head of OPA, and President Truman in the early winter of 1945-46 when there was still time to save price control.

Pearson

Bowles, who saw clearly what would happen if price controls were taken off, told the president with great satisfaction that he had worked out a deal with the AFL and CIO not to ask for wage increases if price controls were continued.

He explained that if price controls were abandoned, organized labor was all set to ask for a series of big wage boosts, which in turn would lead to more price increases, more inflation, and another round of wage increases.

However, organized labor had agreed to a moratorium on wage increases if price controls were kept. Naturally Bowles expected Truman to be pleased. He wasn't. Instead, he launched into a tirade against labor leaders.

"Those —— labor leaders," he said. "You can't trust 'em. They're wrecking the country. There's only one you can trust and that's John L. Lewis. Aside from him I wouldn't trust any of these —— labor leaders."

Naturally this conversation leaked back to Phil Murray of the CIO and William Green of the AFL. It didn't endear Truman to them. But, more important, it upset an agreement by which the present disastrous inflation could have been prevented—all because Truman lost his temper. Incidentally, it was only a few months later that Truman was cussing out John L. Lewis for tying up the entire nation with a coal strike.

In brief, more and more people have got wise to the manner in which the president tangents. He can send messages to Congress which read beautifully on paper, but, when it comes to carrying out those messages, it's all too apparent that Truman doesn't believe in them.

SECRET ANTI-LYNCH DEBATE

Republicans have been planning to take in Negro votes with their anti-lynching bill, but it looks as if they would have trouble with their own members, and three staunch Republicans—Representatives John Gwynne of Iowa, Frank Fellows of Maine and Edward Devitt of Minnesota—upset the G.O.P. applecart at a closed door session of the judiciary committee.

Speaker Joe Martin and other G.O.P. leaders had decided at a previous secret caucus to make the anti-lynch law applicable to crimes against property as well as persons. Also, they decided to approve Section 1 of the bill, a declaration of racial equality which Democratic foes claimed was a "political stump talk, aimed at further dividing the Democratic party."

However, when the judiciary committee met behind closed doors, Gwynne and Fellows joined the Democrats in a close vote to delete Section 1.

"Let's confine this to an anti-lynching bill and leave out political stump talk, aimed at southern states, which has no place in legislation," demanded Democrat Francis Walter of Pennsylvania.

G.O.P. Representative Clifford Case of New Jersey, the bill's author, contended that Section 1 was written on the advice of "experts," who felt that a preamble was necessary.

"I don't care who wrote it," persisted Walter, a northern Democrat. "It's inflammatory and doesn't belong in the bill."

Republican Devitt of Minnesota offered the motion to kill the "crimes against property" provision. This would have made it a violation of the anti-lynch law for two or more persons to conspire to injure the property of another. The motion carried over hot opposition from Republicans Case and John Jennings of Tennessee, who insisted that if it was wrong to lynch a man, it also was wrong to "wreck his store or his home."

"I submit again that this is irrelevant to the problem of preventing lynchings," broke in Walter of Pennsylvania. "This is either an anti-lynching bill or it isn't. Let's hew to the line."

The Republicans also had to accept defeat on a provision that federal grants-in-aid be withheld from any state if a town or community therein refused to pay a judgment to heirs of a lynch victim.

This was stricken out on a motion by Democrat Walter, again supported by Congressmen Gwynne and Fellows.

"A state would be penalized for lynching committed within its borders by out-of-state thugs under this provision," objected Democrat Fadjo Cravens of Arkansas.

"Could an appropriation for hot lunches for school children be withheld from a state where a lynching judgment is not paid?" inquired Fellows.

"Unquestionably," replied Walter. "Any type of grant-in-aid to the states would be affected."

That ended the debate.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Texas Is Wonderful
Roving Ruark Finds

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Houston, Texas, March 8—Today I am a Texan, podner. I'm a roper and a fighter and a wild horse rider, and a right fair windmill hand. I got cattle in the bank and oil in the ground, and my hat is wider and whiter than any little old hat you ever did see.

Yessir, Amigo, we got the biggest old state and the prettiest little girls and the brightest old sun and the wettest old rain you ever saw, even our Lone Star monument is taller than the one in Washington, if you count the base. It's got to be taller than the one in Washington, because after all, the Union joined us. We didn't need the Union. Never did.

The state of Texas is bounded by the United States, an insignificant colony we saved from defeat in the last war. We could have won it sooner if we hadn't a-been all dragged down with the other 47 states. What with Oveta running the Wacs and Nimitz running the Navy and the whole air force working out of our state, it's a wonder we didn't sue for a separate peace. Why, we got Jesse Jones and Amon Carter and George Kelley and Sammy Baugh, and Pappy O'Daniel and H. R. Cullen and Glen McCarthy and the Big King ranch. We got the Gulf of Mexico and the Rio Grande and the ship channel all the way up from Galveston, and Ann Sheridan. We got the oil and the ships and the grass and the meat, and the grapefruits and the watermelons and the wheat and the cotton. Boy, what we ain't got we don't need.

Everybody's Rich

We still got the Texas navy, just in case we ever want it handy, and we got the Texas rangers. We got spurs that jingle jangle jingle and we wear picktoed boots and five gallon hats with our store clothes, everybody's rich in Texas. Shoot the other three million.

It won't take any talent to get rich in Texas, ponder. You just bore a little old hole in the ground, and the oil spurts up, and then all you have to do is go buy a diamond ring and a pair of hand-tooled boots and six or eight Cadillacs and then wait for some more oil to come shooting up out of the hole.

Or else you ketch an old cowbrute and throw her down and carve your initials on her flank, and bymeby you got a herd and everybody knows about the price of rump roast. Git along, little doggie, and come home to papa with a million dollars tied to your tail.

We got the tenderest steaks and the biggest shrimp and the hottest barbecue and the most fiery peppers and the most indigestible chili. We wash our feet in Bourbon whisky and we slick down our hair with vintage bear grease. We can holler louder than a lovestruck coyote with a full moon working on his vocal chords, and we're always about half ready to play, for money, marbles or nuggets shoot the next four million.

And Texas Women

Texas women grow taller and stand straighter and their lips are redder and their eyes are brighter than any other women's in the world. Their hair piles higher and their legs sprout slimmer and their sweaters look trimmer. Also there seems to be a lot more of them.

Well, the music is louder and the streets are wider and the sunsets are prettier and the moon is bigger and the race horses run faster. The bird dogs are smarter and the fish bite better and son, when we have an explosion it is the biggest, loudest explosion in the world. I mean Texas city.

Our clover is knee-high to a tall steer, the alfalfa is collar-bone high to a tall giraffe, and the crap-games are high as the sky. Even our sky is higher than other people's sky. It's just Texas.

Yes sir, podner. We got the finest old boys with the truest old hearts and the openest old hands of any state in the Union, and I ain't just whistlin' Dixie. Yes, sir. Three days in this town and I got a bow in my legs, adventure in my soul and Texas in my blood. Slap the silver-mounted, hand-tooled, gold-embossed saddle on the pinto, slim, and ring up the horizon. Old buck is a-aimin' to canter off into the sunset. I mean he's flat ready to ride.

Robinson Speaks At Nahma Schoo!

Nahma, Mich.,—W. G. Robinson of the University of Michigan addressed a group at the Nahma school last Thursday evening. He outlined a program of recreation which he thought would be adaptable for the Nahma community. He suggested that the people organize into groups for discussion so they could familiarize themselves with world affairs. He pointed out that there are three places now in the Upper Peninsula where extension service from the University is being given, one of which is Escanaba. In case any interest is shown toward taking advantage of this extension service, Mr. Charles Follo of Escanaba may be contacted. Mr. Robinson spoke on city manager form of government and the county manager form of government. In regard to a recreational program he mentioned that it is permissible for the township to use funds to carry out such a program in the township and also to use its school busses to transport children to and from supervised activities.

NEW SUPERMARKET — Architect's sketch of the new Red Owl Super Market, 70x100 feet, feet, to be erected at First Avenue South and South Tenth Street. A hard-surfaced parking lot, 90x100 feet will join the building for the convenience of customers. Plans and specifications were prepared by Feldhausen & Coughlen of Green Bay, Wisconsin.

Erling Arntzen Given Supermarket Contract

Announcement of the intention to erect a new Red Owl Super Food Market on the corner of First Avenue South and South Tenth street in Escanaba, was made today by R. J. Van Essen, General Manager of Red Owl Stores, Eastern Division, at Green Bay, Wis.

Contract for the erection of the building has been awarded to Erling Arntzen, 1524 Eighth Avenue South, Escanaba, by the owner, Swan Johnson of the S. M. Johnson company.

The building, a one-story brick and tile structure 70 x 100 feet, will face Tenth street with a second entrance on First Avenue. A parking lot, 90 x 100 feet entirely surfaced with concrete, will adjoin the building on the South for customers' use. The store front will be faced with porcelain enamel in Red Owl's harmonizing shades of green and red.

Two houses presently located on the property will be removed in the near future. Actual construction will start March 15 or as soon thereafter as weather conditions permit and will be completed for occupancy not later than August 1.

Completion of this store will bring to Escanaba one of the finest food markets in upper Michigan, having all facilities for handling and serving foods, fresh meats, produce, bakery products, and other related items. The parking lot should be particularly welcome in view of parking difficulties in this vicinity on busy days.

Anuta Runs For Municipal Judge

Menominee, Mich. — Nominating petitions were filed in behalf of Michael J. Anuta as a candidate for municipal judge in the March 22 primary election and presents city council with a problem for its Monday night meeting.

Anuta resigned two weeks ago as prosecuting attorney because of ill health and is now on a month's motor trip to the Southwest. Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson appointed Victor A. Lundgren, Jr., Menominee municipal judge, to serve out Anuta's term, which will expire next Dec. 31.

Lundgren, in turn, resigned as municipal judge but council deferred action on his resignation by referring it to its judiciary committee and left unsettled the legal status of the municipal judgeship. Under the charter, when a city official resigns or the office becomes vacant, the mayor is authorized to fill the vacancy pending the next general election.

Little Girl Gets 16 Birthday Bicycles

Portland, Ore., (AP)—One bicycle ordinarily is enough for a 5-year-old girl, but Sharon Fulton got 16 of them as a birthday gift.

They all came from an aunt, Mrs. James E. Jones of Oklahoma City. Advised by long distance telephone, Mrs. Jones explained it was all a mistake.

Her husband had called a firm selling bicycles and asked that one be sent to Sharon. Instead the firm sent one case.

Cortez regarded the loss of one horse as equal to that of twenty men.

City Manager Reviews Experience With Wells

This is the second of three articles prepared by City Manager A. V. Aronson on the subject of Escanaba's water problem. The first article reviewed the history of the water plant to the changeover to wells. Today's article deals with the city's experiences with wells. The third, to be published Tuesday, analyzes the problem confronting the city for its water supply of the future.

By A. V. ARONSON
Escanaba City Manager

In this second article on the city's water problem we shall review the city's experiences with the ground water source of supply. City officials welcome any helpful suggestions that may come to your mind regarding this water problem.

The receipt of a letter from the Michigan Department of Health in January, 1935, in regard to building a new plant, was the event that started the ball rolling. In 1938, after the manager had investigated different engineering firms, he recommended to the Council the hiring of the consulting firm of Burns and McDonnell Company. This was authorized by the Council and a contract drawn. This contract is on file in the City Hall.

The engineers recommended a new plant be constructed and drew sketches to show what the building would look like when completed. Three suggestions were given consideration and it seems that there were objections to all of them. The three locations were along the northeast side of the present plant, rebuilding the present plant, and on the north shore across the street from the Ludington Hotel.

At that time the site across from the Ludington Hotel seemed the most desirable because of the possible accessibility of coal delivery. However, there were many strong objections to this location.

The divided opinion on the council was reflected in the community, or vice versa, and a petition was filed with the council requesting that the question be brought up for public vote. In order to have a more careful study of the whole case the Council decided to have a citizens' committee of twelve appointed by the Manager to make a complete study and report. This was done and the report is on file in the City Hall. The committee was not unanimous in its decision for building the plant in any one location. After this report was received by the Council they decided to place the entire question of a new water plant to a vote of the people.

The engineers' estimate of the total cost of the building was $275,000. It was to be constructed with W. P. A. help, and the city's share would be just over 50%. A swimming pool was included in the plans.

At a Michigan Municipal League meeting in June, at Houghton, a paper was given by a member of the Michigan Department of Health. In this talk the geologist suggested that the source of underground water supply be investigated before investing large amounts of cash in an expensive filter plant.

With the possibility of securing a satisfactory water supply at a fraction of the other cost, the Council in November, 1940, authorized the drilling of a test well near the pump station. This well was drilled and after tests and analyses were made it was found to be satisfactory. (Opinions now differ on this point.) Therefore, four more wells were drilled and the present well water supply comes from four of these five wells. On well contained so much iron it had to be abandoned except for emergency use. Because of the preliminary investigation showing such a large saving in wells over a new plant, the vote of the people for a new purification and pumping plant was abandoned, and the Council then authorized the construction of the underground system.

500,000 Gallon Storage

A very excellent report, written by George E. Bean, manager at that time, was made on May 25, 1942. This report is also on file in the City Hall. It gives a complete report on the wells, the investigation, tests, council actions, charts and records, etc. The duplication thereof in this report is unnecessary, and it will therefore not be included.

ELEVATED WATER STORAGE TANK. Another important factor in our water supply is the elevated water tank. This was constructed in 1945 at a cost of approximately $50,000. It has a storage capacity of 500,000 gallons. The following data is interesting. The average daily pumpage is now over 200,000 gallons more than it was two years ago. The first six months of the 1947-48 fiscal year shows another 150,000 gallons per day increase.

	1942	1947
Average Daily Pumpage	1,400,000	1,600,000
Maximum Single Days Pumpage	2,750,000	3,327,000
Maximum Hourly Rate of Pumpage	4,300,000	4,300,000

This information is given at this point in order to prove the importance and necessity for the elevated tank. To meet the average daily requirements of water to be pumped it is necessary for the pumps to deliver 1100 gallons per minute for 24 hours. The maximum single day's pumpage would require a rate of 1,900 gallons per minute for 24 hours and the maximum hourly rate would require the pumps to furnish water at the rate of 300 gallons per minute for one hour. Because of the available storage in the tank the pumps do not have to meet the maximum requirements. The tank takes care of furnishing the extra amount needed and when the rush is over the pumps will gradually refill the tank. An elevated tank is necessary not only because we obtain our water from deep down in the ground. It is a very considerable advantage no matter what the source and all the benefits received apply to any water system.

The tank is necessary not only for the above reason, but there are more justifiable reasons. For instance, if the power should fail, as sometimes happens, the tank will take care of the pressure and supply. If the tank should happen to be only half full (which it is at times), and the power failed, the tank would take care of the need for 1½ hours under the greatest demand we have on record. Under average demands the tank would take care of the city for 8 hours without a pump running. Under our present circumstances, without standby electric power for our pumps, we would be in a serious position if it were not for the tank. When the steam turbine generator is finally set up in the steam plant the purchased power can be off indefinitely and current can be supplied by our own machine when necessary.

Electrical Savings

Another advantage of the elevated tank is the more constant pressure in the mains because of elevated storage. The variation in pressure due to the pumps starting and stopping is practically eliminated. The switchboard or brains of the water system is located in the police station and can be made to work automatically or under hand control.

Because of the tank storage capacity, at times the motors can run in low speed, making a substantial saving. By not using the electric motors in high speed and using them more in low speed and not running at all during the peak period of electric use, it is possible to save from $1500 to $2500 a year. By placing all of these benefits together, the tank really returns a substantial dividend to the city.

The water wells can all be controlled at the police station, as stated in the second paragraph above. A control for each of the wells is placed on a panel so that by hand or by authomatic control the pumps can be placed in high or low speed or shut off. If under automatic control, the different wells are all controlled by the water pressure in the 16-inch main in the alley just outside the station. This water pressure is registered for every day showing the depth of water in the tank at all times.

The tank is protected from inside corrosion by a low voltage system called electro-rust-proofing. Eight rods hang from the top of the tank down into the water and are called cathodes. Current flows from these cathodes through the water to the side of the tank, which would be the anode. In this way the inside of the tank is built up instead of rusting away. Any material showing would take many years. This theory sounds logical and it was highly recommended, so is being tried out and closely watched.

Water in the tank in winter is kept from freezing to any serious extent by allowing the water in the tank to be half used every day so that then fresh water is pumped in return to refill. The water from the wells has a temperature of 50 regrees F. If it were possible to remove the B. T. U.'s or heat units from 32 degrees to 50 degrees in the water pumped into the tank every day there would be sufficient heat to keep ten average-sized houses warm in the coldest weather. This heat keeps the water from freezing.

It is necessary to lay about two blocks of 16-inch water main and six blocks of 12-inch water main to balance the distribution of water from the elevated tank. Our present large water mains now spread out like the branches of a tree from the original source, which is at the east end of town. Therefore, by the time they reach the location of the tank they are not large enough for the source of supply coming from that location to give complete satisfaction in all other parts of the city. Quite a large number of connections have been made from the tank through 16-inch pipe and they are doing a fairly satisfactory job of distribution around the whole area. To complete the layout for all emergencies the pipe mentioned in the beginning of this paragraph should be laid and some of it is planned for the summer of 1948.

As mentioned previously, only four wells are being used. The No. 4 well near 18th street south and 6th avenue had to be abandoned because of the large amount of iron in the water. Table No. 1 gives the analysis of the wells in regard to hardness at the time of being drilled, and only a very slight change has occurred to date. The trend is to a harder water.

Demand Increasing

The amount of flow was determined from tests made at the time the wells were first placed in operation. Table No. 2 shows the amount of flow possible with different combinations of pumps and speeds. Since then, the drawdown has increased and not as much water can be pumped. The maximum amount now available in place of 2,854,000 gallons per day, is approximately 1,800,000 gallons. All of the pumps in the wells were lowered in 1944, and it naturally takes more power to run them because of the greater lift. This means that all the motors are overloaded to their capacity. Table No. 3 is interesting because it gives a record of flows, draw-down, speed of draw-down, etc. This table gives a story that must be studied, and it is now in the process of being analyzed.

If Well No. 4 had come through with an average flow, we would have had almost a sufficient supply of water before the increased demand starting two years ago. Because of the increased demand and attendant increase in draw-down, the wells at this time cannot take care of our summer demand. The daily demand is still increasing. That is the reason the old filtration plant must be used. In the summer months it is used every day except Sunday. Since last summer the filtration plant is used to help out the wells five days a week. The deep wells could probably supply all the water needed outside of the summer months, but because it is necessary to have a man to look at the wells every day, he also runs the filters for about seven hours on his shift for five days a week. During the time that the filter plant pump is running, some of the well pumps are idle. The result is a rise in the elevation of the ground water, the well pumps run in low speed (more economical than high) a large percentage of the time, and as a result there is a slight drop in operating expense.

Table No. 4 gives an accumulation of data which is probably the most interesting of all. It gives a story from the beginning of city managership to the fiscal year we are now in. The increase in the amount of water pumped is somewhat consistent except for the last couple of years. The present year now appears to be increasing at a more rapid rate than the last two. The statistics on operating expenses show plainly the decrease in cost now as compared with when we were running the filter plant. Even with salaries about sixty per cent higher at this time, this is very evident. Against this, of course, is the increased cost of soap to the individual family. Theoretically, the city is saving more than the extra cost of soap. If the final source of water supply is to come mostly from a filtration plant, it will be necessary to increase the water rates. There was a substantial rate reduction when the deep wells were started. Table No. 5 gives a number of water rates from the time the water utility was privately owned up to the present time.

BONEFELD'S

Honest, I Didn't Know
USED FATS WERE STILL BADLY NEEDED!

Lady, where have you been? Used fats are needed now more than ever, because the shortage of fats and oils today is the greatest in the world's history. Our government warns us that the supply cannot meet today's industrial needs. You can help prevent this supply from getting too low by continuing to turn in used fats.

You say you re-use them for cooking? Fine! But even the drops left after that are worth salvaging. How about melting down fat trimmings, skimming gravies? Those tricks yield plenty!

And come to think of it, what other kitchen waste can you convert into good hard cash? It's a point to remember, these days of high food costs! Butchers pay for used fats. So please... don't throw your fats away. Turn 'em in!

GIRL SCOUTS TO NOTE BIRTHDAY

Cookie Sale And Rally Local Participation In Observance

On March 12, 1912, Juliette Low gathered seven girls together in her home town of Savannah, Ga., and organized the first Girl Scout troop in America. Today that little troop of seven girls has grown to a mighty organization of over a million members.

These million girls all over America will be observing their thirty-sixth anniversary this week in various ways.

In Manistique the sale of Girl Scout cookies and a rally are the main features of the week.

The girls have been taking orders for the cookies for the past few weeks and have turned in to the finance chairman, Mrs. Wm. J. Sheahan, orders for 575 boxes. The profits from the cookie sale will go into the troop treasuries.

The rally to be held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Lincoln gym will include all Brownie and Girl Scout troops in the city and parents and friends are invited. Each troop will contribute a number toward the entertainment and the program promises to be interesting and varied.

onations to the Juliette Low World Friendship fund will be brought to this meeting and the afternoon will wind up with a treat for the girls from the council.

Girl Scout posters are displayed in a number of places this week. On the poster is a Girl Scout giving the salute of the organization and at the side is a copy of the Girl Scouts promise and laws. When you see the little Girl Scout in the window saluting you take time to stop and read over her promise and laws and see if you do not agree that it is a good code for all of us to live by.

Off The Chest ...

BY JAY ARRELL

Premier Stalin was given the horse laugh in this country a few weeks ago because he got rough with his official composers for not producing music according to his liking. It seems that he listened to a concert of some of their creations and found that out of the whole mass (or probably mess) there wasn't a single tune that he could whistle.

From that one may infer that Stalin has his good points as well as a multitude of traits not so admirable. We could use a Stalin in this country to crack down on that click or coterie combine of wet blanket that is stifling the production of American music.

JAY ARRELL

We have just gone through another epoch of history that should have produced at least a half dozen songs that should make glad such occasions as Legion and VFW conventions—songs that old vets will some day sing to their grandchildren. But outside of two or three ribald marching songs composed by some nameless GI, World War II is as barren of singable music as a crow convention.

World War I produced scores of songs that the world has come to love; "Over There," "There Are Smiles," "There's A Long, Long Trail," "Smile Awhile," just to mention a few. The Spanish-American produced "Hot Time," "Just as the Sun Went Down", "The Banks of the Wabash." And and Civil War brought out many more.

It isn't that America has no musical genius. Every high school has some musically inclined youngster who can improvise tunes. But the gulf betwen the music writer and the publisher seems unbridgeable. Had William Foster been a contemporary figure he would have very likely died of starvation as he did about a century ago and what is more this world would never have known "Swanee River," "Old Kentucky Home" and those other inforgettable melodies.

And while we wouldn't say that stifling process is carried on even to church music, we became aware of a curious act a few Sunday's ago when we went to church about fifteen minutes before services and spent the time checking over the dates of the hymns in the church's hymn book; which was of very recent publication. While we were unable to make a complete perusal, out of the nearly 300 hymns we did check over, but four were written after 1900. Three of these selections were written by Mellus Christiansen of Northfield, Minn., the other was a composition unfamaliar to us.

Now this comment on sacred music is not meant to be adverse criticism.

A hymn has to achieve veneration and a status akin to folkmusic to win a place in a psalm book, but we cannot help but take to heart motto emblazoned on the cover of our old high school songbook "Let me write the songs of the nation and I care not who makes its laws."

We got all worked up about this subject of music following a recent conversation with Ferd Gorsche, leader of the Manistique Municipal Band. He showed us the music that the band is taking on for future concerts. Its an ambitious assignment. "Boy, the arrangements these publishing houses are turning out are wonderful!" he enthused, then he added, "But it seems danged funny, there isn't a new composition in the lot."

CARD OF THANKS

It is with a feeling of sincere gratitude that we take this means of expressing our deep appreciation and thanks to all our friends and neighbors for their kindness shown us at the time of our recent bereavement, the death of Mrs. Mabel Berger. We are very grateful to the Rev. W. H. Schobert for his consoling words and other manifestations of sympathy, to City of Manistique employees and officials, Inland employees and Local 377, members of Manistique Public schools, the Board of Supervisors, members of the Woodman Circle, and employees of the Michigan Dimension company. We also wish to thank those who served as pallbearers, those who sent flowers those who offered the use of their cars, and to all others who aided us in so many ways. These kindnesses will always he held in grateful remembrance.

Signed:
The Berger Family

COUNCIL RACE SOON TO BOIL

At Least Eight Petitions Being Circulated For Three Positions

Who is running for those three places on the Manistique city council?

Queries to that effect bring only shrugs from those who may be in a position to know.

There have been eight applications at the city clerk's office for the necessary petition blanks, but up to Saturday noon only one petition containing the required number of signers had been filed. That was the petition filed by Otto Schubring in his own behalf.

Petitions on behalf of Louis F. Crosby, it is reported are ready for filing. It is also known that petitions are being circulated for Ed Toyra and Norman Oliver. Other petitions, although secured at the city clerks office, have not as yet been placed in general circulations and those requesting them stated that they were not for themselves and refused to amplify further.

With the deadline for filing more than a week away, much can happen. The present incumbents whose terms expire at this time have not as yet made known their intentions.

"Long Time No See" Said Two Former Next Door Neighbors

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman F. Dewey recently returned from Huntington, where they were guests of former next door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. U. H. Burgess.

The visit was something in the nature of a reunion because neither family had seen, nor heard of the other in more than thirty-five years.

Both had formerly lived at Logan, then the Dewey's moved away, to Manistique. A few weeks ago Mrs. Dewey, in looking over a batch of old photos, came upon a picture of the Burgess children and wondered what ever became of them. Mr. Dewey suggested that she write and find out. The letter was answered with an invitation to come and visit, which the Deweys accepted.

Finds Butter And Meat Cheap In Ontario

William Barker, of Blaney Park, recently returned from a visit to his old home at Port Hope, Ontario, and other points in that area where he spent his boyhood.

Among the things of interest that he took back with him was a hand bill distributed by a grocery store at Orono where the prices listed are in sharp contrast with current prices in the States.

Butter, for instance, was 72 cents and eggs, 39 ents, porterhouse steak 55 cents and pot roast 32 cents.

There was, however, practically no difference in the price of packaged and canned goods, coffee being the same price as here and such items as cake flour, soap, canned soups and beans were almost identical.

Prices on basic commodities, he said, are kept down by strict rationing. Farmers, he said, are increasingly irked by regulations that are high handed in the extreme.

Barker was for many years employed as a lumber camp cook in these parts but has new retired and is, for the present, employed at Blaney Park.

Two Car Collisions Reported To Police

Two auto collisions, both sideswipes, were investigated Friday by Michigan State Police.

One occurred on US 2-41 several miles north of Gladstone when William Betts of Ishpeming attempted to pass the Brampton school bus just as the bus driver, Clyde Benson, began to turn left to enter upon the Days River road.

Damage to both vehicles was slight and there were no injuries.

The other involved a 1948 sedan driven by Cecil E. LaComb of Escanaba and occurred on a county road north of Perronville when LaComb attempted to pass an auto driven by Lowell Treffert of Bark River as Treffert began a left turn off of the highway. LaComb's car was damaged considerably on the right side while the left front of Treffert's auto was damaged.

Tigers With Pay Cuts Are Hard Workers

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

Tampa, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Impressions after a week in the baseball training camps:

Most optimistic manager—Billy Southworth of the Braves. About the only thing talkative Billy won't say is that he's sure to win the pennant.

Most uncommunicative manager—Joe McCarthy of the Red Sox. Joe never did say much and this year he says even less.

Most enthusiastic squad — The Phillies. Its hard to tell whether the "regulars" or the "farmhands" squad has more spirit. Manager Ben Chapman seems to lean toward the farmhands.

Least enthusiastics—The Athletics. But maybe we hit them on a bad day.

Most determined—The Tigers, especially the players who took pay cuts after last season.

Best check-grabber—Gabe Paul, the Reds assistant to the president. He can act as if he really liked to do it.

Guy who is having the most fun — Bob Carpenter, Phillies president. And he'd be happier if a sore arm didn't keep him from workouts with the team.

Hardest-luck guy—Tom Swope, Cincinnati baseball writer, who took a day off to go fishing, got caught in the rain, took refuge on a porch and tried to pet a strange dog. That was when Tom got the only bite of the day.

Shorts and Shells

Harold Daugherty, who's getting a trial in the Detroit infield, was a freshman halfback on the 1945 Ohio State football team. He didn't play baseball in college but took it up in the army . . . The Red Sox Tex Hughson won 22 games in 1942, 18 in 1844 and 20 in 1946. One reason why he's hopeful now is that another 'even' year is coming up . . . Jewel Ens, Syracuse manager, worked three years developing Hank Sauer into the guy whose hitting has the Reds' camp excited. "One year he hit only .214 but I never gave up on him," Ens explains. "I knew a big, strong fellow like him should be better. He's developed into a good fielder, too."

Quote, Unquote

Billy Southworth: "I fear the Cardinals more than the Dodgers. The reason is that they're strong in every position and probably have the best-seasoned pitching staff in the league."

Little Lloyd Duff Decathlon Hopeful In U. S. Olympics

Chicago, March 8 (AP)—Olympic decathlon hopefuls usually are brawny athletes who have to be sturdy to stand the gaff in the grueling 10-event championship.

But picture, if you will, a spindly, 155-pound chap who has decathlon aspirations —and may be right in there pitching when the United States rounds up its Olympic track gang next June.

That's Ohio State's Lloyd Duff, who stole the show in the 36th Big Nine indoor championships at Champaign, Ill., Saturday with a record breaking flourish that gave the Buckeyes the conference crown.

Duff, 24, from Lakewood, Ohio, bettered the American and indoor 70 high hurdle record of :08.5 by a tenth of a second as the crowning achievement in a 16-point performance in which he also:

Won the broad jump with 24-foot, 4½-inch leap, less than an inch behind the conference record of 24-5¼.

Placed third in the pole vault with a fine soar of 13 feet, 8 inches, two inches behind co-champions Tom Bennett of Wisconsin and Harry Cooper of Minnesota.

And ran third in a 70-yard low hurdle race in which Northwestern's Bill Porter equalled the American and conference record of :07.8.

No Favorites in National College Basketball Meet

Kansas City, March 8 (AP)—The National Intercollegiate Basketball tournament (NAIB), bringing together 32 teams representing every section of the nation, opened its week-long meet today without an outstanding favorite.

Coach Cam Henderson of Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va., the 1947 champion, brushed off suggestions that his herdsmen might make it two in a row with the comment:

"There are entirely too many tough ones for us this time. We had our fun last year."

Asked to name the probable champion, Henderson pointed to the entry list and said, "just close your eyes and put a finger on any team—that's as good a way as any."

NICE START

New York, March 8 (AP)—Earl York, 21-year-old rookie first sacker of the Chicago Cubs, is off to an impressive start in his bid for a major league berth. York, a southpaw all the way, has clubbed a homer in each of the Cubs' first two exhibition games against the Chicago White Sox. The Cubs took both games by a one-run margin.

EAGLES WINGS ARE CLIPPED

Stephenson Ousted By 51-43 After Fine Showing In 'B'

The "people's choice", the Stephenson Eagles, who had popular sentiment on their side after gaining the finals in their first tournament competition in Class B, went down to bitter defeat before the aggressive close guarding and sharpshooting of the Menominee Maroons in a 51-43 Class B championship battle witnessed by a packed house at the junior high gym Saturday night.

The all-around effectiveness of Jack McCormick, who scored 18 points played a sound floor game and was a workhorse on defense as well, plus the timely marksmanship of Mike Shatusky and Jack Farley, proved to be too much for the plucky Eagles, who had posted convincing triumphs over Manistique and Iron Mountain en route to the championship round.

Had big George Peterson been a bit more accurate, it might have been a different story, but the six-foot six-inch center was having trouble getting his rebound shots to drop. They were close, in and out and around the hoop but they wouldn't drop with monotonous regularity as they did when he compiled 28 points in the semifinal clash with the Mountainers.

Shatusky Finds Match

His able running mate at forward, Don Thielke, proved to be a match for Shatusky in speed and deception, and the pair were all square in marksmanship also, each dipping in five field goals and two free throws, but the combined effectiveness of Peterson and Thielke was not enough to cope with the hustling, accurate-passing Menominee crew. Big Pete was held to five buckets, which with four charity tosses, made him second to McCormick in scoring.

The Eagles held an 11-9 first-quarter lead but dropped behind, 23-19, at halftime when McCormick began his scoring rampage. The troublesome "Monk" of Maroon football fame dropped three in quick succession at the ouset of the second quarter to put Menonee in front.

Menominee held a six-point lead, 18-12, midway in the second quarter, and that was the greatest margin of the game until the Maroons began to pull away late in the third quarter.

The crowd went wild in the closing minute of play in the first half, when four buckets were made within 45 seconds. The ever-dependable Thielke started the fireworks with a side-arm delivery shot from a 45-degree angle that brought the house down. That closed the gap to 17-19. McCormick came right back to make it 17-21. Peterson connected for 19-21 and, like a flash, Dick Deschaine punched one in to give the Maroons their four-point halftime margin.

Eagles Regain Lead

There was plenty of fight left in the Eagles. Thielke, Peterson and little Myron Drum connected to put them in front by 27-25 right after the intermission. Again, it was McCormick who quelled this Stephenson uprising. As he had overcome the Eagles advantage early in the second quarter, he hit two quick ones to boost Menominee ahead again, 27-29.

And when he bracketed two more a moment later, the handwriting was on the wall.

The Maroons were in front, 38-29, going into the final quarter. It was 43-36 at the three-minute mark when chunky Billy Wells made his bid for Menominee, adding what might be called the clinchers. With Shatusky and Farley contributing free throws, Wells added two buckets and a charity toss to push the advantage to 50-36.

The Eagles fought gamely, but time ran out on them.

Mass City Wins 43rd Straight, Sets Sights On State Championship

By the Associated Press

When bids for regional titles in the Michigan High School basketball tournament open this Wednesday, three 1947 champions won't be around to display their drygoods.

Two are Upper Peninsula merchandisers—Class C Norway and Class E Bergland—and the other, Baroda, Lower Peninsula Class D, went out of business last Saturday night.

An old trader in the market, Bridgman, 1945 and 1946 Class D champ, left little uncertainty of its intentions, dumping Baroda 50-32.

Norway lost to St. Joseph's of Escanaba before the district finals and Bergland was elbowed out at Watersmeet Saturday night by Rockland, 36-32.

Other '47 champions survived.

Mass City at Houghton racked up its 43rd straight triumph in eliminating Dollar Bay 74-34, a record stretching over two seasons. Coach C. L. Wilson declared that if his boys get through the regional, they'll invade the Lower Peninsula with nothing less than Baroda's title for their goal.

In fact, for the first time since 1934, Upper and Lower Peninsula Class B-C-D teams will deadlock in the same tournament. Previously the two areas have had separate finals.

Approximately 200 schoolboy teams will enter the regional clashes, including more than 130 Class B-C-D squads that survived the districts and approximately 60 Class A outfits, which haven't yet seen tournament action.

Regional winners will head for the March 17 quarterfinals at centers yet to be designated.

Quarterfinal survivors will then gang up at East Lansing for semi-finals and finals at Michigan State College's Jenison field house March 19-20.

Highlights of the district finals included the following:

At Ontonagon (Class C)—Ontonagon captured its first district title since 1928 by downing Ironwood St. Ambrose 50-45.

At Marquette (Class C and D)—Gwinn downed Baraga 43-40 in a Class C overtime and Negaunee St. Paul battled Marquette John D. Pierce in another overtime to win a Class D 64-60 victory Baraga caught fire after losing 14 games in a row during the regular season.

At Rapid River (Class D)—Favored Cedarville lost a 33-30 overtime decision to underdog Cooks.

At Escanaba (Class B)—Stephenson, competing in Class B for the first time, lost in the finals to Menominee, 51-43.

BRAVES SPANK ST. JOE, 48-37

Cliff Gillis Sets Hot Pace, Scores 24 In Class C Finale

Lacking the spark that enabled them to eliminate Norway, defending Upper Peninsula Class C champion, 55-44, Thursday night, the St. Joseph's Trojans of Escanaba lost the district Class C title to a capable band of Gladstone Braves, 48-37, before a howling capacity crowd at the junior high gym Saturday night.

Clifford Gillis, as able a cager ever to grace a Class C championship game, was the big wheel in Gladstone's 11-point triumph. His agility from the pivot position accounted for 24 points, 11 in the first half and 13 in the last two periods, that broke the Trojan back.

Gillis twisted and squirmed for nine field goals and added six charity tosses to cop individual scoring honors with room to spare. Jack Miron, who went out on personals midway in the fourth quarter, hit seven buckets an one free throw for 15.

Braves Pull Away

It was big Jack's play, aided and abetted by some fine all-around floor work on the part of Gerald Gleich, that kept St. Joseph's in front in the first half. Gleich made the first two field goals of the game and played a sound floor game throughout.

Big Jack connected for five two-pointers in the first half, as the Trojans held a 12-7 edge at the quarter and 22-18 at the half.

The Braves came back quick to tie it up on buckets by LeRoy Brown and—yes, Mr. Gillis—but the Trojans fought on gamely, Miron sinking the baskets that deadlocked the game at 24-all and again at 26-all.

That was all for the Trojans, however. At this point, Gladstone's Braves began to pull away, and after Miron bowed out on five fouls with the score, 39-32, in favor of Coach Keil's cagers, there was little doubt about the outcome.

Gleich Outstanding

Gerald Harris, scoring star of St. Joe's triumph over Norway, was held scoreless from the field by the Braves. In addition to being a power on defense, Gleich rang up three field goals and four charity tosses for 10 points, one more than Ed Henriksen tallied.

Gladstone exactly doubled the score on St. Joe the last half, outpointing its rivals, 10-4, in the third quarter and ringing up 20 points to 11 for the Trojans in the finale.

Big Phil Creten, recently elevated to the Gladstone varsity when Doug Madden was sidelined for the rest of the season, entered the game late to add a couple of goals to the fast mounting Brave total.

Freddie Johnson Is Man To Watch In Spartan Track

East Lansing, March 8 (AP) — Long-legged Freddie Johnson, a 23-year old sophomore from Grand Rapids, should be a man to watch at Michigan State in his next twoyears of college track competition.

Johnson entered three events at the Central Collegiate Track and Field meet here Saturday and won all three. The 15 points he accumulated were an important factor in giving the Spartans a 61 11/14 total to beat out runner-up Notre Dame, with 52 1/5 points.

Michigan State won six of the 13 events and three went to Notre Dame. Michigan Normal was third with 21 9/10 points and the rest of the 16 colleges competing trailed out of the money.

Johnson started his winning ways in the afternoon by sailing 25 feet 4 and 3/4 inches in the broad jump for a new meet and field house record. It was the longest indoor jump recorded in college circles this season.

In the evening, Johnson beat out teammate Horace Smith, Jackson football star, in the low hurdles with a time of :08.3 to equal the meet and field house record. He also took the 75-yard dash in :07.6 seconds.

Leafs, Red Wings Still Tied In NHL

(By The Associated Press)

The Toronto Maple Leafs and the Detroit Red Wings once again share the National Hockey League lead today.

Detroit moved into a deadlock with the Leafs over the weekend by playing two tie games while Toronto split two decisions.

The Wings played the Montreal Canadiens to a 2-2 draw Saturday and last night battled the New York Rangers to a 2-2 standoff.

Against the Canadiens, the Wings overcame a 2-0 deficit with young Gordie Howe sinking the tying marker in the last period.

The Wings held a 2-1 lead against the Rangers going into the last minute of play when Tony Leswick shoved in his second goal of the game to enable the Rangers to gain a tie.

Meanwhile, the Leafs, after gaining a 2-1 win over the Rangers Saturday on third period goals by Syl Apps and Howie Meeker, dropped a 3-1 count to the Boston Bruins last night.

A trio of former Leafs sparked the Chicago Blackhawks to a crushing 9-3 conquest over Montreal in the circuit's remaining game last night.

Gaye Stewart, Bud Polie and Gus Bodnar highlighted the rough victory scoring five, four and two points respectively. The trio was obtained by the Hawks from the Leafs along with Bob Goldham and Ernie Dickens, for Max Bentley and Cy Thomas.

CEDARVILLE IS BEATEN, 33-30

Cooks Tops Consistent 'D' Performance With Overtime Win

Rapid River, March 8 (Special) —Coach Ray Ranguette's scrappy Cooks high school cagers climaxed a consistent performance in tournament play by defeating the favored Cedarville quintet, 33-30, in the overtime to annex the district Class D championship here Saturday night.

The lanky Cedarville aggregation from the eastern end of the Upper Peninsula which had disposed of Bark River-Harris and Rock by one-sided scores, figured to win the championship, but Cooks pulled the title game out of the fire with two quick baskets in the overtime after the rivals were deadlocked, 29-29, after the regular playing time.

Neither Cedarville nor Cooks had been seeded. After beating Powers, 36-25, Cooks eliminated the top-seeded Rapid River quintet, 26-25 to gain the finals, and after tipping Harris, 57-28, Cedarville ousted the second-seeded Rock quintet, 31-20.

All five Cooks starters shared in the scoring, with Gray setting the pace on five buckets and one free throw, closely followed by Cutler, four field goals, and Hazen, three two-pointers. Muscoe led Cedarville with 11 counters.

It was a nip-and-tuck affair all the way. Deadlocked at 13-all at halftime, Cooks held a one-point lead going into the fourth quarter. Cedarville overcame this one-point edge in the finale, sending the game into the overtime.

Wolverine Cagers Drub MSC, 69-28

East Lansing, March 8 (AP)—The victim of a 69-28 drubbing by Michigan in the final game Saturday night, Michigan State's basketball team wound up its season with a 12-10 won and lost record.

A tight Michigan zone defense held the Spartans, weak on their long shots, to only eight field goals for the evening. The Wolverine win equalized an earlier 43-38 victory by Michigan State.

Bob Brannum, MSC captain and leading scorer, settled for 11 points to bring his season total to 344. The old Michigan State individual scoring record was a 251 total set by guard Sam Fortino in 1946.

For veteran coach Ben F. Van Alstyne it marked the completion of his 22nd season at Michigan State. Through the years Van Alstyne has finished below the .500 mark in only four seasons.

HAWKS TRIM STAMBO, 6-3

Escanaba Six Has Won Five Of Last Six Games

The Escanaba Hawks continued their winning ways by defeating the Stambaugh sextet, 1946-47 Upper Peninsula amateur champion, 6-3 at the fairgrounds indoor rink Sunday night.

It was the Hawks' third consecutive victory of the season over Stambaugh, who last year beat Escanaba, 1-0, in the finals of the Upper Peninsula championship tournament.

CLASH TOMORROW

The two-game total-goal inter-city championship series between the Escanaba Hawks and Gladstone Indians will get underway at the fairgrounds indoor rink here Tuesday evening. The opening faceoff will be at 8:15. The Delta county rivals will meet tomorrow and next Sunday afternoon. The team scoring the most goals in both games will be the winner.

A further tribute to Escanaba's play is the fact that last night's triumph was its fifth in the last six games. Since losing to Marquette early in February, the Hawks have defeated Newberry, 5-3; Gladstone, 5-3; Marquette Rockets, 12-2; Marquette Loans, 7-4, and Stambaugh, 6-3 and have been beaten, 5-4, by an inspired Newberry sextet.

The game was clean and fairly fast, although the puck clung to the ice tenaciously at times and caused players to overskate it.

Escanaba grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first period but fell behind, 3-2, in the second period when Stambaugh's sharpshooters found the range. A four-goal barrage in the finale, however, settled the issue.

The Hawks scored most of their goals on rebounds, as the visiting goalie put up a solid front that was hard to dent. Dudley Paquette set the pace with three goals. Babs Petaja, Ernie Belanger and Mel Bertrand each tallied once for the Hawks.

PUCK REPORT DELAYED

Detroit, March 8, (AP)—An official National Hockey League report on hinted player gambling was delayed 24 hours today. NHL President Clarence S. Campbell notified Gov. Kim Sigler of Michigan he would not be prepared until tomorrow to turn over the results of his investigation.

PERKINS BOWS OUT, 41 TO 39

Field Goal In Last 30 Seconds Decides Class E Chase

Rapid River, March 8 (Special) —Hermansville, undefeated champion in the Central U. P. D-E Basketball league, had to pull one out of the fire in the last 30 seconds of play here Saturday night to beat Perkins, second-place team in the Central circuit, 41-39, for the district Class E championship.

Trailing 11-9 after the first quarter and 20-16 at halftime, Perkins came back strong to hold its own in the third quarter and forge ahead in the finale.

With only two minutes left to play, in fact, Perkins held a four-point lead, only to see Hermansville regain the lead just before time ran out. Perkins stalling tactics backfired in the face of Hermansville's aggressive rushing defense that pulled the game out of fire.

Van Damme, Perkins, and Pieropon, Hermansville, tied or individual scoring honors with 12 points, each collecting four field goals and four free throws. Oddly enough, each missed five three throws.

Free throws won the game for Hermansville. It scored only 13 field goals to 16 for Perkins, but it made 15 out of 34 free throws, while Perkins was capitalizing on only seven out of 21.

Locke and Mangrum End Miami 4-Ball Match in Deadlock

Miami, Fla., March 8 (AP)—Bobby Locke of South Africa and Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago today had to play off their second tie in two days in the $10,000 Miami International four ball golf tournament.

The two ended all even on the 36th hole with Jim Ferrier of Chicago and Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., as darkness fell last night.

Mangrum and Locke, currently the leading money winners in the United States, played 41 holes yesterday. They had to finish their opening round match with Johnny Revolta and Sammy Byrd which was tied at the end of 39 holes Saturday first. A 51-foot putt by Mangrum gave them the match on the 44th hole.

The winner of the Locke-Mangrum vs. Ferrier-Middlecoff match today will go on to play Herman Keiser of Akron, Ohio, and Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., in the semifinals. k

SOVIETS SHOOT YANK IN VIENNA

Soldier Hit In Back By Red Sentry Will Lose Left Arm

Vienna, Austria, March 8 (AP)—U. S. Army authorities said an American soldier was shot in the back last night after refusing to obey a Russian order to get off the sidewalk and into the gutter in front of a Russian headquarters hotel in the international district of Vienna.

The provost marshall's office said the soldier probably will lose his left arm. His name was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

The official account was as follows:

The soldier was walking with two other soldiers and three Austrian girls along a sidewalk bordering a parkway in front of the Grand hotel. A sentry ordered the soldiers into the gutter and the soldiers refused. The sentry then pushed one of the soldiers, who pushed him back. The sentry then called another sentry from inside the hotel.

The second sentry struck the American soldier with his gun, knocking him to his knees. While the soldier was still on the ground, the sentry fired a shot into his back. Another entered the soldier's arm, smashing the elbow.

The remaining soldiers—unarmed according to American military regulations—and the three girls ran to the American-occupied Bristol hotel two blocks away as the Russian fired over their heads.

When an ambulance arrived 45 minutes later, the soldier was still on the ground and the Russians had made no effort to give first aid.

inmates," and permitted favors to criminals such as parties outside the walls.

Former Warden Jackson told Sigler that corrections commmission members were lax in their responsibilities and that parole investigators also were at fault.

Sigler said he would be more specific in his comment on Jackson's letter after further study.

He pointed out that his prison investigation was still going on, in the hands of Joseph W. Sanford, newly appointed corrections commissioner.

He observed that at the time of Jackson's removal "everyone" could not be fired.

"Some had to be retained — who may be dismissed eventually," he said.

Reverend Hummon Addresses Noon Kiwanis Meeting

An outline of the Lord's Acre Plan, used by the Delta parish of Congregational churches to finance their religious programs, was presented by Rev. Serge F. Hummon of Rapid River at the meeting of the Kiwanis club this noon.

Reverend Hummon said that the plan, launched in 1946, also has been beneficial in encouraging farmers of the parish to use improved seed and farming practices.

Last fall, farmers gave to the church the harvest from an acre of wheat, oats or peas. One farmer contributed the increased value of a hog, while housewives gave a portion of the eggs from their chicken flocks.

This year, new seed is being obtained for the planting of Lord's acres, Reverend Hummon said. In Fayette, an auction of farm products will be held in the fall, and the proceeds given to the church.

The speaker also described briefly the church work in the rural communities. Square dances and folk dancing, along with movies, are used to provide recreation for the young people at Rapid River, Fayette, Cooks, Isabella and Garden. The parish owns a $600 movie projector, which has proved valuable in promoting church work, Reverend Hummon said.

Members of the clergy were guests of the Kiwanis club at today's meeting.

EHS Students Hear "Charm Quartette"

Students of Escanaba Senior high school this morning heard a variety of songs, solo and quartette, performed by the Charm Quartette for the Lyceum assembly. The appearance of the four girls was a substitution for Miss Joan Bishop, operatic mezzo soprano and former Quiz Kid, who is ill with the measles, in Chicago.

The quartette was received enthusiastically by the students. Among their renditions were two solos, The Lord's Prayer and a Greig composition.

The program opened with selections from Victor Herbert's Naughty Marietta and the Donkey Serenade, from Friml's Firefly. A medley of Irish songs, the aria and prayer from Humperdinck's Hansel and Gretel, selections from Oklahoma and many other popular songs were presented.

GOVERNOR DIES IN CONNECTICUT

Blood Clot Cuts Short First Term Of Noted College Educator

Hartford, Conn., March 8 (AP)—Death has cut short the career of James L. McConaughy in the middle of his first term as Connecticut's governor.

The 60-year-old Republican chief executive, who entered politics after winning distinction as a college administrator, died suddenly from a blood clot in the heart at 3 p. m. (E. S. T.) yesterday in Hartford hospital.

McConnaughy, a native of New York City and a Yale graduate in 1909, devoted most of his adult life to education. Before his appointment as president of Wesleyan, he was president of Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., for eight years, and previously had been on the faculties of Bowdoin and Dartmouth colleges.

The suddenness of his death, which automatically elevated Lieutenant Governor James C. Shannon to the state's highest executive office, shocked his family, friends and associates. It came only 24 hours after he entered the hospital for treatment of intestinal influenza which had disrupted his plans to leave the state last Friday for a Florida vacation.

William R. Craig, 59, Veteran Telegrapher, Dies At Hospital

William R. Craig, 59, veteran Chicago & North Western Railway telegrapher, died at 5 o'clock this morning at St. Francis hospital. His death, caused by a heart condition, followed surgery to which he submitted a week ago.

Mr. Craig was born in Escanaba, April 4, 1888. He had worked in various parts of the peninsula, as telegrapher, for 41 years, and most recently was station agent at Florence, Wis., and at Vulcan. He was a member of the Order of Railway Telegraphers.

OFFICERS LOSE SOO GAME CASE

Search Ruled Illegal; Deer Trial Evidence Ordered Supressed

Sault Ste. Marie, March 8 (AP)—Municipal Judge John E. Larock today approved a motion ordering suppression of evidence in the Amyotte - Morse "search and seizure" game case on grounds that the search was illegal.

His findings were based on the fact that conservation officers had heard no shots and found no illegal acts prior to their stopping of a car driven by Harry Amyotte on a lonely woods road last Nov. 29. He also noted that the arrest occurred during a legal hunting season.

Citing various laws and legal findings, Judge Larock questioned the fact that Conservation Joe Hill possessed elements of "probable cause" to be suspicious of the car, and questioned the officers' right to blockade the highway to stop a car.

"The State of Michigan will have to search for and find constitutional and legal means by which to enforce her conservation laws lest they become a mere statuatory shibboleth", wrote Judge Larock in summing up his decision.

Lindsay Describes Founding, Growth Of Rotary Movement

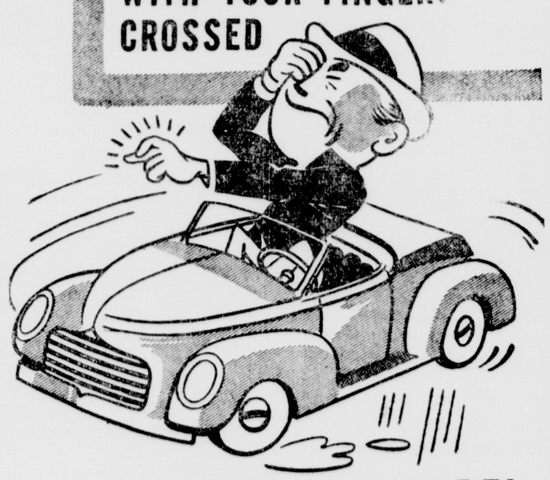

Harold Lindsay of Escanaba, past district governor of Rotary International, today noon addressed the Escanaba Rotary club in commemoration of the founding of the Rotary program 43 years ago in Chicago.

The late Paul Harris was the founder of Rotary, and the first meeting of a group of Chicago business and professional men was held in Chicago in February, 1905. Five years later there were 16 clubs in the United States, and in 1916 clubs were organized in Ireland and England. Rotary International became an actuality in 1922.

Today there are 6,398 club with a total of 310,000 members in 78 countries, Lindsay reported.

The aims and objects of Rotary, with a program of service by the club and the individual member to his community and to the world were described by the past district governor.
